CLASS OF SEVENTEEN CANDIDATES

Passes Over the Burning Sauds Before Becoming Full Fledged Shriners-Visitors Present From All Parts of the State-The Session Was the Best in the History of a Very Successful Temple-The Banquet.

OME very successful sessions of the Osiris temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, have been held, but that in this city yesterday evening, the first since the one held in Huntington last spring, was, according to the universal verdict of those who were on the "inside," the finest ever held since the organization of Osiris several years ago. Although the class of applicants for membership in this, the lighter vein of Masonry, was not so large as several classes initiated before everything went off smoothly, and, needless to say, uproariously. More Shriners were gathered together at the session last evening than ever before in the history of the local temple—two hundred taking part in the proceedings. The working session for the purpose of initiating the applicants started at 7 o'clock last evening and continued until 11 p. m., with very infrequent intervals of quietude. Following was the class that walked over the burning sands to the edification of their termentors and their own discomfort:

John D. Brown, Wheeling; H. H. Largey, Statler's kun; Allen T. Bowie, Bridgeport; Walter G. Lewis, Bridgeport; Dr. J. A. Heinlein, Bridgeport; B. P. Driggs, Huntington; N. C. Hamilton, Wheeling; T. G. Jenkins, Wheeling; Dr. J. N. Fasset, Wheeling; Dr. H. B. Baguley, Wheeling; Alex B. Rob, Wheeling; J. H. Klieves, Wheeling; R. P. Robb, Wheeling; James Kinney, jr., Wheeling.

The session was remarkable for the large number of out-of-town people who were on hand. Among these were the following:

R. M. Eaton, St. Clairsville; George to the universal verdict of those who were on the "inside," the finest ever

The banquet at the Stamm house took place at the conclusion of the working session, and was a most enjoyable occasion. Mine host, George W. Stamm, who had the affair in charge, had decorated the large dining hall handsomely, and the two bundred guests discussed with pleasure the good things this well-known caterer had set before them. The scene was a brilliant one, every banqueter being under the Shriner fez.

AT THE GRAND.

Two Packed Houses See "The Little Speculator" Yesterday.

Two packed houses saw the production, for the first time in the city, of Herbert Hall Winslow's clever musical comedy, "The Little Speculator," at the Grand, and to say that the piece has made a pronounced hit is putting it mild. From beginning to end the vast audiences were kept in a continual roar. The play is one of those peculiar farce comedies without any particular plot, and in it are opportunities for the introduction of taking specialties, and introduction of taking specialties, and the opportunity is not thrown away.

Miss Eloise Williard, a pretty and sprightly soubrette, assumes the title role of Cricket and does it most acceptably. Mr. Charles P. Morrison, as Calpepper Meck, proves himself to be one of the funniest comedians seen here for a good while. The other members of the company are all good and take the characters intrusted to their keeping in a faultless manner. "The Little Speculator" will be the attraction for the rest faultless manner. NICARAGUA AFFAIRS.

Secretary Gresham Regards the Matter as Being Exaggerated.
Washington, Nov. 29.—Secretary

Gresham was to-day shown the Associated Press cable from London announcing the new turn affairs had taken in Nicaragua. The secretary said nothing had been received from Ambassador Bayard at London or Minister bassador Bayard at London or Minister Baker at Nicaragua, and that the department had no information from either of these sources. Secretary Gresham said that the attempt to magnily everything in connection with the Bluefields incident was absurd, and he could not imagine who was responsible for some of the ridiculous conclusions which had been drawn from trifling which had been drawn from trifling which had been drawn from trilling events.

It is understood from other sources that should these dispatches be officially confirmed our state department should feel very much gratified, for they indicate the settlement of the Bluefields question for all times and the final abandonment of the British protectorate over the Mosquito Indians. This desirable result moreover will have been accomplished in strict conformity of the accomplished in strict conformity of the treaty of Managua between Great Britain and Nicaragua, and so the set-tlement cannot be regarded as humiliating to Great Britain or touching her ing to Great Britain or touching her honor in any way.

Article 4 of the treaty of Managua signed in 1850, which follows the article guaranteeing to the Mosquito Indians the right of solf-government, reads as follows: "It is understood, however, that nothing in this treaty shall be construed to prevent the Mosquito Indians at any nuture time from agreeing to absolute incorporation into the republic of Nigraguag on the same footing as at any inture time from sgreeing to absolute incorporation into the republic of Nicaragua on the same footing as other citizene of the republic, and from subjecting themselves to be governed by the general laws and regulations of the republic instead of by their own customs and regulations."

Therefore if Mr. Barrics, the Nicaraguan agent in London, is correctly advised of the action of the Mosquito Indians, all that remains for the British to do is to satisfy themselves that the act of incorporation was voluntary on the part of the Indians and that the assembly which adopted the resolution was thoroughly representative in its character. In such case the British protectorate would lapse by the terms of the treaty, the Mosquito reservation would no longer be known as automonous territory, and Nicaragua properly exercise full sovereignty over all lands within her boundaries. It is true that owing to the mixture with other peoples the original Mosquitos have become so blended and crossed that it may be very difficult to establish the fact that the majority have really consented to incorporation with Nicaragua and it is possible that over just such a detail as this the British minister at Managua has been acting with such precipitation as to call for rebuke by his own government. Admiral Ramsey of the navy said to-day that the Columbia had not yet reported at Bluefields. She was not under speed orders and will jog along yet reported at Bluefields. The Columbia he anticipated would not remain long at Bluefields as her commander was under orders to use his own discretion as to his future movements. Admiral Ramsey said the events related in the Associated Press cables would probably settle all difficutives. He made light of the war scare which has been worked up in connection with the Bluefields incident.

FUNERAL SERVICES

the Remains of the Princess Hismarck-The Ceremonies.

VARZIN, Nov. 29 .- A tuneral service over the remains of Princess Bismarck was conducted at noon to-day at the cathedral by the local clergyman, Pastor Schumann, of Wussow. The body was then removed and temporarily disposed in the pavillion in the park.

posed in the pavillion in the park.

Previous to the removal of the remains, they were blossed in the work room of the dead woman, where a chatafalque had been erected. The funeral sermon was preached by Pastor Schumaun, and in addition to the family only the Counters Von Eickstadt, the companion of the late princess, Dr. Schweningen and the servants of the household were present. The casket was borne by six foresters and six stewards to the pavillion.

Prince Bismarck, leaning upon the arm of his daughter, Countess Von Rantzau, walked behind the body. He was terribly affected, but was not ill. In the pavillion at 2 o'clock this afternoon the special funeral service took place. Only a few other people, including some of the inhabitants of Varzin, attended, owing to the fact that the

For these reasons very few floral tributes of respect to the dead were received, and from royalty only, a wreath sent by the ex-Empress Frederick arrived in time for to-day's funeral cerononies, but other wreaths and other offerings are expected to arrive during the evening and to-morrow, Friday, being the date which a certain news ing the date which a certain news agency erroneously stated as having been decided upon for the funeral.
